Prior authorizations are not a multiple choice test that if you put in enough right answers you'll pass and get an approval. The PACS course explained not just the "why" of the process, but the importance of all the pieces that make up the "why." I would recommend this course to anyone involved with the authorization process to better grasp the steps and refresh their skills. I thought I was pretty savvy when it came to prior authorizations but this certification allowed me to further demonstrate my knowledge and skill set.
